CONGRATULATIONS!
You helped secure a $1 million endowment from the Osher Foundation

OLLI needs your ongoing support.

The terms of the Osher Foundation's endowment require robust annual fundraising efforts, and you have proven the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at Emory can count on contributions from members. By making a gift to OLLI at Emory, you ensure that this engaging intellectual and social experience remains available to lifelong students like yourself.

$1 million endowment ≠ $1 million spendable funds
$1 million endowment = $50,000 a year

The endowment is invested, and only a percentage of the return can be used. This ensures the endowment does not decline over the long term and the program has a predictable stream of revenue. Based on the current distribution rate established by the Emory Board of Trustees, the $1 million endowment will provide OLLI at Emory about $50,000 a year for staff support.

The Jewish Course of Why
Instructor: Rabbi Ari Sollish
(6 sessions: Apr 5-May 10)
It's a good thing Jews like to ask questions, because there's hardly a more effective way to learn than by asking a good question. From the profound to the almost profane -- and everything in between -- this course will address some of the most puzzling aspects of Jewish tradition.

Rabbi Sollish is founder/director of the Intown Jewish Academy in Atlanta.

Nazi Germany
Instructor: Susan Barnard, BA Journalism and Public Relations; Certified Operating Technician
This class will trace the development of the Nazi Party and profile the actors on this stage of horror -- including Hitler and his women -- while chronicling events leading up to World War II, the destruction of Europe, and the Holocaust. The class concludes with the trials at Nuremberg for the crimes against humanity.

Susan was a historical columnist/enthusiast who volunteered at the Atlanta History Center's library-archives as a docent. She currently volunteers at the Breman Jewish Heritage Museum as a docent in the Holocaust exhibit.

Atlanta, Georgia: A City Too Busy to Hate - Part 2
Instructor: Lonnie King, BA, MPA, PhD Candidate History, Georgia State University
Join us for an overview of Atlanta's history, tracing its origins and development into the “City Too Busy To Hate” -- as well as the impact of African-American commerce and political activism on the nation as a whole. This course will cover the years from 1960 to 2000.

At age 24, Lonnie organized and led the Atlanta Student Movement, resulting in the desegregation of Rich's Department Store and other public accommodations in downtown Atlanta.

History of Slavery and European Settlement for North America
Instructor: Sal Depasquale, MCJ, MBA, Vietnam Veteran
As humans transitioned from hunter-gatherers to agriculture and animal husbandry, the social order changed dramatically leading to warfare and, consequently enslaving the vanquished. During the past 10,000 years, slavery has had different meanings -- like a virus, it has mutated and given birth to human rationalization and justification for brutality and human depravity. Slavery was a lynchpin for the great American experiment and its residue continues to impact the modern day. This class is structured for extensive class discussion. It is designed not to lament the past, but to highlight the inexorable tide of history. Suggested readings: American Colonies: The Settling of North America (Taylor); American Nations: A History of the Eleven Rival Regional Cultures of North America (Woodard).

Sal has a strong focus in history to identify the underlying roots of contemporary conflicts.

Utopian Literature
Instructor: John Bugge, PhD
The course will include selected readings in the tradition of utopian and dystopian writing, from Plato to the present.

John is a Professor Emeritus of English, Emory University, with a specialty in medieval literature.

Short Story Smorgasbord
Instructors: Elizabeth Deschenes, MA Clinical Psychology and Ann Starr, BA English Education
Join us as we romp through the world looking at the short works of several famous authors in seven weeks, including three Nobel prize winners. Works to be discussed include:

Six Characters in Search of an Author by Luigi Pirandello (Italy), Poems by Wislawa Szymborska (Poland) and Pablo Neruda (Chile), The Unknown Masterpiece by Honore de Balzac (France), The Grand Inquisitor by Fyodor Dostoyevsky (Russia), Open Boat (America) by Stephen Crane, Three Questions by Leo Tolstoy (Russia), and one mystery author/short story.

Elizabeth is the founder and leader of the Jour/Nuit Great Conversations Book Club; Ann served as Executive Director of The Bridge, Inc., a residential treatment center for adolescents.

Intro to Social Media
Instructor: Denis Gray, MEd, Technology Support
(4 sessions: Apr 5-26)(ends 12:15PM)
This course will identify the top ten social media sites and discuss the benefits and disadvantages of each. Students will explore which ones are most appropriate for their interests. Learn how to create and manage accounts, and access them from your phone, tablet and computer. Privacy and security issues will also be explored. Instructor fee: $40. Limited to 22 students.

Denis has extensive experience in adult training and education, including working as a Technology Support Teacher providing training and technology support to high school teachers.
TUESDAYS:
11:15AM-12:15PM

The History of Birth Control in the United States
Instructor: John Grunwell, BS Chemistry; PhD Organic Chemistry
We will trace the development and use of contraceptive devices in the U.S. from the time of the enactment, including the Comstock laws, the development and impact of birth control pill and Planned Parenthood.
John is a Professor Emeritus of Chemistry at Miami University.

The Media Speaks: Are You Listening?
Coordinators: Bunny Mitchell and Steve Goss
As media metamorphoses into myriad different platforms, what effect is that having on interpersonal communication, news coverage, business, politics, and journalistic integrity? Experts from TV, radio, newspapers, social media and the law will share their experiences and insight into the past, present and future of modern media and the growing influence it has on our lives.
Experts include participants from CNN, Public Broadcasting Atlanta, WAGA Fox-5 TV, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, The Media Trainers, Duane Morris, LLP, Emory University, and Georgia State University.

The Other Women: Royal Mistresses at European Courts
Instructor: Michael McDavid, BA, MA European History, MA Library Science
Since the Middle Ages, royal mistresses were a fixture at most European courts. Some monarchs had only one “companion” over a long period of time; others paraded serial “friends” before their courts. We will examine this phenomenon by looking at the reigns of the eight monarchs, from the Renaissance up to the contemporary times. We will probe the personalities of the monarchs, their “other women” and the impact these relationships had on their reigns and times.
Michael’s special areas of interest are 19th-century Europe and the role of monarchy as a political and social institution.

Embroidery with Beads and Sequins
Instructor: Ety Hejaziniak
Students will learn how to embroider with beads and sequins on fabric. By learning this skill, students will be able to embellish any dress or fabric into an elegant piece of art.
Supply fee: $15. Limited to 15 students.
Ety has a great interest in exploring different forms of art and science. She paints using acrylic as her medium.

Spanish 101 - Part 2
Instructor: Betty Pareja, BA Economics
For those who took Spanish 101-Part I in the Fall of 2015 or those with a Spanish-language background, this course will help you learn practical and conversational Spanish. Vocabulary will be basic, and students will identify words, sentences, and questions for everyday usage. Students learn to link words in an easy way to enable them to have a conversation. The instructor provides handouts for each lesson. Students who have not taken Spanish 101-Part I must contact the instructor for approval and make arrangements to purchase the $20 book. Please email: donabetty@aol.com.
Betty has taught Spanish for 20 years and also worked as a medical Spanish interpreter for passport languages.

The Early Presidents
Instructor: John Evans, BA, MA
This course will include the first six Presidents of the United States - George Washington through John Quincy Adams. We will consider the administration(s) of each of these presidents and discover their usage of presidential power and occasional abuses. We will examine some of their achievements and failures; drama and melodramas; and tumults and tragedies. Class will include informal discussion.
John served on the Atlanta board of Education and was a teacher and administrator in curriculum development for over 30 years.

TUESDAYS:
1:40-2:40PM

Appreciating and Enjoying the Public Garden
Instructor: Lisa Ethridge, Certified Master Gardener
(6 sessions: Apr 5-May 10)
We will discuss the framework and organization of the public garden and its value to the community. Much of the information will be based on the programming and plant collection at the Atlanta Botanical Garden. We will do five 1-hour sessions and a field trip to Atlanta Botanical Garden.
Supply fee: $30 (entry to the garden and materials). Note: parking fee at ABG not included in supply fee.
Lisa is a North Fulton Master Gardener/University of Georgia Extension Volunteer who writes a monthly gardening column for My North Fulton.
An Adventure into Wine
Instructor: Herbert Spasser, DDS, CWE
(5 Sessions: Apr 5, 12, 19, 26, and May 10)
The wonderful world of wine becomes alive, exciting, and familiar via lecture, PowerPoint slides, and tasting! Topics include: The Elegant Wines of Germany, Alsace, The Hidden Jewel of France, Wines of Southern France, Napa-Still the Yardstick, and California-Bordeaux Shootout. Supply fee: $40 (wine). Please bring 2 wine glasses. Limited to 15 students. Herbert is a certified wine educator with The Society of Wine Educators, a Bailli of Atlanta Chaine des Rotisseurs, as well as a wine judge, lecturer, and writer.

Flora and Fauna of North Georgia
Organizer: Leean Lathrop, Teacher, Advertising Coordinator, Antiques Business Owner
We are fortunate to have a very diverse environment to study in Georgia -- come explore mountains, plains, oceans and swamp land, as well as animals, plants, and shrubs. Wildlife will be an important element in our explorations with very interesting speakers.

It’s Never Too Late To Be Who You Are!
Instructor: Linda King, Facilitator, Speaker, You Identity Expert
This highly interactive course uses a faith-based approach to help reintroduce you back to you. Topics include: increasing your awareness about who you are and the importance of sharing who you are, confronting obstacles that prevent you from embracing who you are, identifying “defining moments” in your life that support your true identity. Limited to 20 students. Linda has over 25 years in the training and development field.

The Browser(s): The Key to Lifelong Learning
Instructor: Dan Gasparini, EdS, MS, RN, CTT+
(4 sessions: April 5-26)(ends at 3:40PM)
The browser is the cornerstone of searching, retrieving, and saving information from the World Wide Web (WWW). Using the browser effectively would result in fewer frustrations when attempting to access the wealth of information available. The BASICS of searching the Internet and the results of those searches will be explored. Bookmarks/Favorites will be presented as a means for saving and sorting Web sites for future retrieval. Instructor Fee: $40. Note: This class will NOT meet in a computer lab. Students must bring their own wireless device and have a working knowledge of it. This class will not teach the basics of individual devices; it is focused on learning how to use browsers.

Searching the World Wide Web (WWW)
Instructor: Dan Gasparini, EdS, MS, RN, CTT+
(4 sessions: May 3-24)(ends at 3:40PM)
The largest service of the Internet is the WWW, providing hours of entertainment, research, and learning - but not knowing where to look can be frustrating. The basics of searching the web will include: keywords, search terms, and operators, with emphasis on healthcare resources credibility. The focus of this introductory course will be finding the fewest number of relevant hits. Bring your own wireless device and your curiosity to class. Instructor Fee: $40. Note: This class will NOT meet in a computer lab. Students must bring their own wireless device and have a working knowledge of it. This class will not teach the basics of individual devices; it is focused on learning how to search the web.

TUESDAYS: 2:45-3:45PM

E.L. Doctorow’s The Book of Daniel: Revisiting the Cold War, McCarthyism, and the Vietnam Era
Instructor: Dan Zins, MA English
Based on the Rosenberg Case, this brilliant, nuanced and necessary novel dramatizes the fateful decades after World War II by imagining what happens to two young children when their parents are arrested, tried, and executed for giving “the secret” of the atom bomb to the Soviet Union. As we explore how one of our very best novelists skillfully uses history to presciently address cultural and political issues of profound importance and enduring relevance to our post-9/11 world, I suspect that everyone in the class will discern many disturbing parallels with life in America today.

Dan taught in the liberal arts department at The Atlanta College of Art from 1978-2006.

Estate Planning and Probate Issues
Instructor: Everett Morris, CFP®, MBA, JD
This basic-level course will survey current legal issues and techniques for controlling property while you are alive, if you become disabled, and when you pass away to help minimize the impact of taxes, professional fees, and court costs. You will be provided a framework for handling the probate of a loved one’s estate. Concepts perceived as complex are explained in terms everyone can understand and apply to their own situation. Limited to 30 students.
Everett runs a law practice that focuses on tax, estate, and asset protection as part of a comprehensive wealth management approach.
WEDNESDAYS: 10:00-11:00AM

Non-Fiction Fast Forward
Instructor: Elizabeth Deschenes, MA Clinical Psychology
(7 sessions: Apr 6-May 18 - no class May 25)
Did General William Tecumseh Sherman suffer from mental illness? If so, did it help or hinder his leadership? Why do so many people get paralyzed by inaction in a crisis? Our exciting fast paced non-fiction book class will provide these answers and more as we review a little history, politics, geography and psychology. We will explore specific chapters within five nonfiction books, including: Survivors Club (Sherwood), First-Rate Madness (Ghaemi), Confessions of an Economic Hitman (Perkins), First Mothers (Angelo), and 100 Places You Will Never Visit. Acquisition of these books is recommended, although complete readings aren’t required.
Elizabeth is the founder and leader of the Jour/Nuit Great Conversations Book Club.

The Modern Grand Tour 2.0
Instructor: Allan Hing, MA Graduate History and Theory
The Grand Tour began in the 1660s with the British, whose purpose was to experience on site the cultural legacy of classical antiquity and the Renaissance as well as European society. Americans joined the tour in the 1850s. What would the Modern Grand Tour be for today’s traveller? The class will begin with an introduction to the Grand Tour and its influence on both Europeans and Americans. An examination will follow of cities with strong modernism ties, including Paris, Basel, Berlin, and Madrid. The final two classes will cover a modern Grand Tour in American and non-Western modern Grand Tours.
Allan is a retired interior design professor.

Survey of Music
Instructor: Arthur Lewis, BA, BM, MM, DM

Smart phone, tablet and laptop integration will be highlighted along with cloud technology. Instructor fee: $40. Limited to 22 students.
The Long New Deal
Instructor: David Slavin, PhD History
The “long” New Deal of the FDR and Truman administrations—seen as an era of radical reform—actually reconfigured racial inequity on a national scale. Congress, dominated by the Dixiecrat wing of the Democratic majority, insured that its panoply of programs and policies preserved the South’s Jim Crow system and expanded its scope to the rest of the U.S. The labor movement, suburbanization—recent history has been shaped by this inherent contradiction of racial inequality embedded in American liberal, progressive politics.

Suggested reading (not required): Fear Itself: The New Deal and the Origins of Our Time (Katznelson). Limited to 15 students.

David has 25 years teaching experience in European, World, and U.S. history.

The Persian Garden: In History, the Arts, and the Present
Instructor: Bill Fletcher, Retired Emory University Professor
As the third course in a Persian-themed series, we intend to examine “the garden” as a central concept and motif of Persian culture. We will trace the development, functions, and political significance of real gardens from Cyrus the Great (r. 550-529 BCE) to the present. We will also explore the role of “the garden” in the Quran, painting, architecture, poetry, and the decorative arts. The final session will look at some famous existing gardens as well as new developments. While traditional and modern plantings will be considered along with their metaphorical or symbolic meanings, this is not intended to be a horticultural course.

Bill taught German language and literature at Emory University.

ObitKit: Live. Love. Laugh. Cry. Write It Down!

Pearls of Wisdom
Instructor: Ed Garcia, MA, CSW
A folk tale, a quote, a proverb, or a metaphor can stimulate you to think more critically about your beliefs, feelings, and behaviors. These ‘pearls of wisdom’ can provide a reflective step and make a big difference when it comes to shifting gears from experiencing life in automatic patterns to giving yourself an enlightened self-direction. Come and share these treasures in an interactive class setting to see what kind of trinkets may await you. Limited to 20 students.
Ed was former Director of Training at the Albert Ellis Institute.

THURSDAYS: 11:15AM-12:15PM

More Murder, Movies, and the Law
Instructor: Steven Harbour, JD
Ever wonder if movie murder trials got the law right? We will look at legal issues from movies including Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil, True Grit, Judgment at Nuremberg, Enemy of the State and more, discussing the laws of self-defense, hearsay, war crimes, DNA evidence search and seizure as well as electronic surveillance. Additionally, scenes from Witness for the Prosecution and Rumpole of the Bailey will be used to compare and contrast the British and American criminal justice systems.
Note: although this course is a continuation of a previous offering, no prerequisite is required.
Steven served as law clerk to the Honorable Lewis R. Morgan, United States Circuit Judge, United States Court of Appeals, and served as an adjunct professor of business law at Kennesaw State University.

The Novella
